

Front

Back

$\frac{5}{8}$ inch seam allowance

Hands-free pumpkin
camisole
by Jenn
Carney

④

Cut 2 on fold

$\frac{1}{4}$ " seam allowance

All patterns downloaded from Sewingmamas.com are Open Source.
Open source sewing patterns are patterns with no copyright.
You can use them, change them and whatever you sew, you
can sell what you make with them
The spirit at SewingMamas.com is to share and share alike.
Please do not sell any of the patterns in this collection.

5/8" seam allowance

ng

Hands-free
pumping camisole by
Jenn Carney

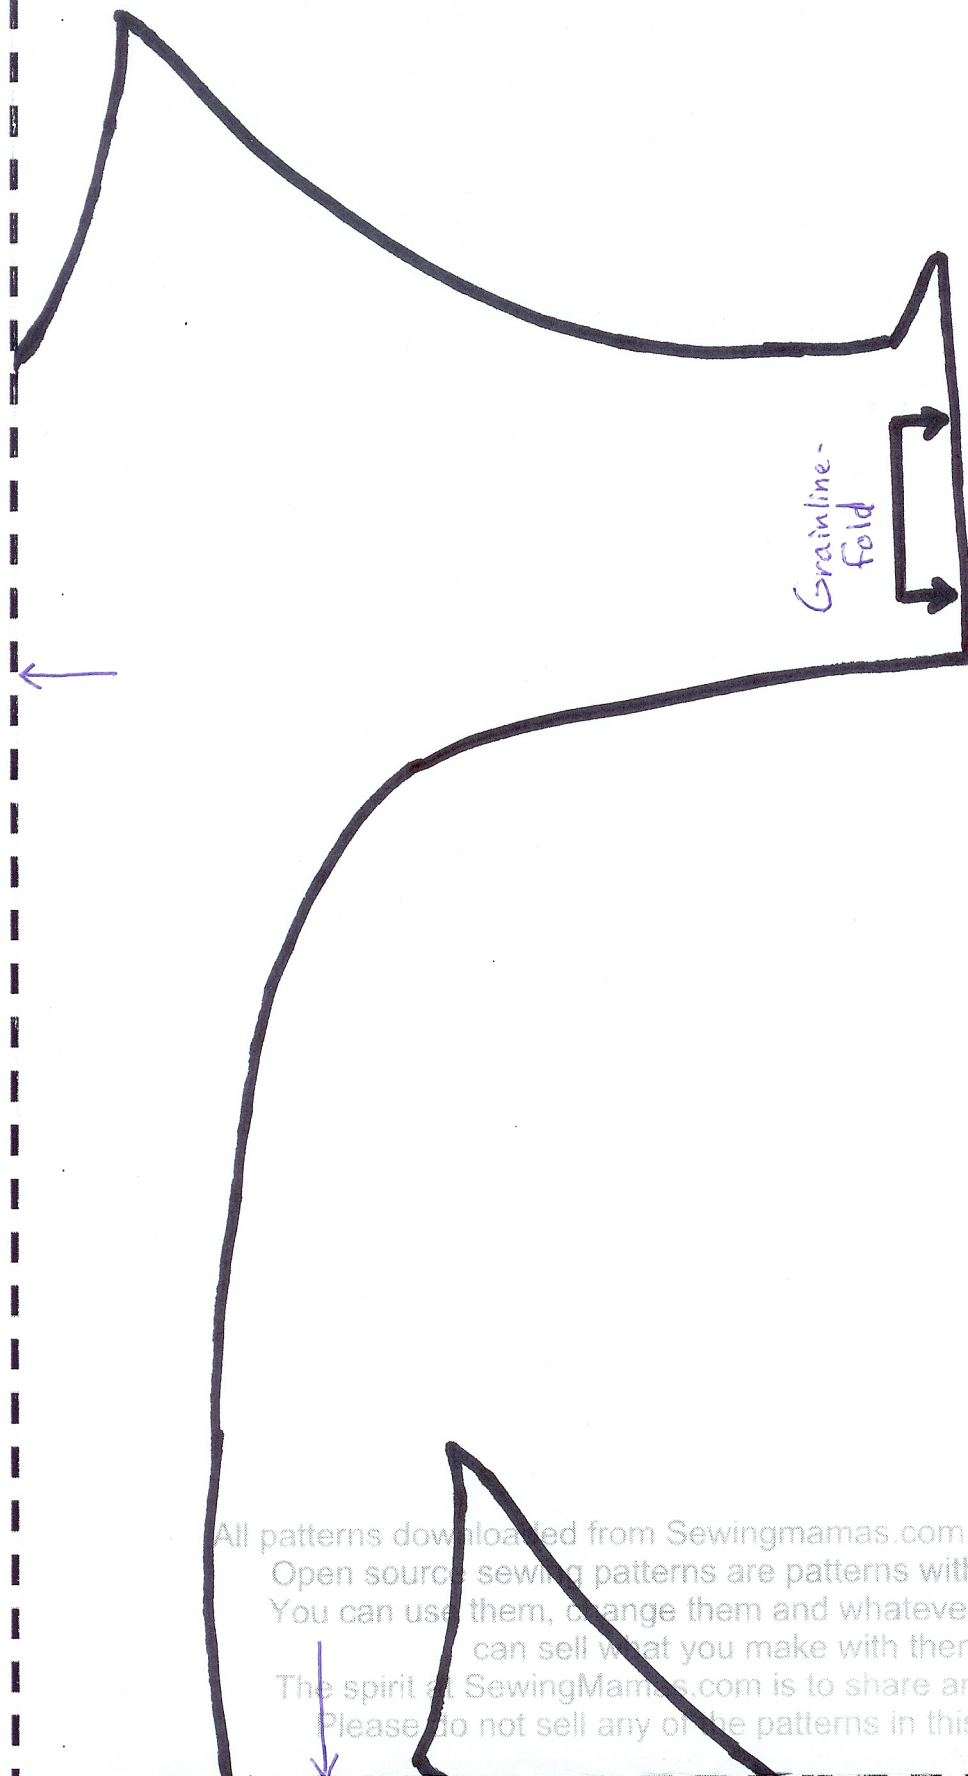

②

Cut 1 on fold

Grainline - fold

1/4" seam allowance

All patterns downloaded from SewingMamas.com are Open Source.
Open source sewing patterns are patterns with no copyright.
You can use them, change them and whatever you sew, you
can sell what you make with them
The spirit at SewingMamas.com is to share and share alike.
Please do not sell any of the patterns in this collection.

All patterns downloaded from Sewingmamas.com are Open Source.
Open source sewing patterns are patterns with no copyright.
You can use them, change them and whatever you sew, you
can sell what you make with them
The spirit of SewingMamas.com is to share and share alike.
Please do not sell any of the patterns in this collection.

$\frac{1}{4}$ " Seam allowance

$\frac{5}{8}$ " hem allowance

All patterns downloaded from Sewingmamas.com are Open Source.
Open source sewing patterns are patterns with no copyright.
You can use them, change them and whatever you sew, you
can sell what you make with them.
The spirit at SewingMamas.com is to share and share alike.
Please do not sell any of the patterns in this collection.

A hand-drawn diagram of a rectangular garment pattern piece. The piece is defined by a solid black line, with a dashed black line representing the outer edge. The top edge has a purple arrow pointing upwards, labeled '5/8" hem allowance'. The right edge has a purple arrow pointing to the right, labeled '5/8" seam allowance'. The bottom edge has a purple arrow pointing downwards, labeled '1/4" seam allowance'. The left edge has a purple arrow pointing to the left, labeled '5/8" hem allowance'. The diagram is oriented vertically, with the top edge at the top and the bottom edge at the bottom.

5/8" seam allowance

5/8" hem allowance

1/4" seam allowance

All patterns downloaded from Sewingmamas.com are Open Source.
Open source sewing patterns are patterns with no copyright.
You can use them, change them and whatever you sew, you
can sell what you make with them.
The spirit at SewingMamas.com is to share and share alike.
Please do not sell any of the patterns in this collection.

Hands-free pumping camisole by Jenn Carney

① Cut 1 on fold

Grainline - fold

All patterns downloaded from Sewingmamas.com are Open Source.

Open source sewing patterns are patterns with no copyright.

You can use them, change them and whatever you sew, you

$\frac{5}{8}$ " seam allowance what you make with them

The spirit at Sewingmamas.com is to share and share alike.

Please do not sell any of the patterns in this collection.

Hands-free pumping
Camisole by
Jenn Carney

③

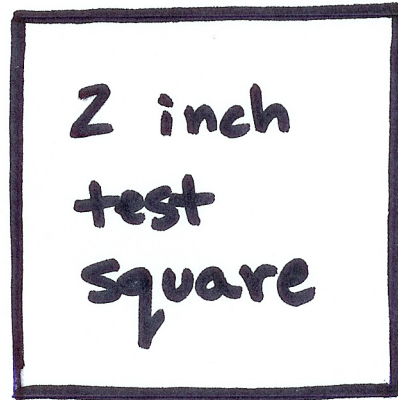

cut 1 on fold

$\frac{1}{4}$ " seam allowance

$\frac{5}{8}$ " seam allowance

All patterns downloaded from Sewingmamas.com are Open Source.
Open source sewing patterns are patterns with no copyright.
You can use them, change them and whatever you sew, you
can sell what you make with them
The spirit at SewingMamas.com is to share and share alike.
Please do not sell any of the patterns in this collection.

Grainline-fold

All patterns downloaded from Sewingmamas.com are Open Source.
Open source sewing patterns are patterns with no copyright.
You can use them, change them and whatever you sew, you
can sell what you make with them
The spirit at SewingMamas.com is to share and share alike.
Please do not sell any of the patterns in this collection.